

Ramsey Speaks To Artists And Label Owners At Winter Music Conference

March 26, 2009

Brooks Pierce partner Coe Ramsey served as a panelist at the Winter Music Conference on March 26. The panel session was entitled "License It & Collect!"

Panel members discussed how to license music properly in order to maximize revenue potential. Artists and label owners learned about various licensing laws and contracts.

Coe practices in the areas of entertainment and music law. In addition to representing radio and television stations on music licensing matters, his music and entertainment clients include bands, musicians, singers, songwriters, record companies, music producers, re-mixers, disc jockeys, video disc jockeys, and other artists.

Coe's passion for broadcasting and music stems from his previous years of experience in the industry. Before becoming an attorney, Coe worked as a radio station mix show disc jockey, as a mobile and nightclub disc jockey, and as a re-mixer / music producer. His re-mixes have been played on radio stations and in night clubs around the world. As a hobby, Coe operates and programs an internet radio station featuring his mixes of current dance music.