

Ninth Circuit Says You're Going to Jail for Visiting That Website without Permission

July 28, 2016 - Zounds, right? But that is arguably what the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit said about the Computer Fraud and Abuse Act in Facebook v. Power Ventures, Inc. on July 12 th . Let's get to it. Facts Power Ventures and its CEO Steven Vachani...\(read more\)

Ninth Circuit Interprets "Without Authorization" under the Computer Fraud and Abuse Act

July 27, 2016 - Topics: Data Security

When we last left David Nosal, he had escaped liability under the Computer Fraud and Abuse Act after convincing some of his former colleagues at executive search firm Korn/Ferry to use their log-in credentials to download source lists, names and...\(read more\)

Taking a Walk Back to a Kinder, Gentler Interpretation of the Computer Fraud and Abuse Act

July 26, 2016 - Topics: Data Breach

We don't usually talk about four-year-old court decisions in the first instance here. But the Ninth Circuit has issued a pair of noteworthy opinions interpreting the Computer Fraud and Abuse Act in the last few weeks. And to understand those it will...\(read more\)

Fourth Circuit Says Law Enforcement Doesn't Need a Warrant to Figure out Where You Are

June 6, 2016 - Topics: Privacy

Like many people, Aaron Graham and Eric Jordan carried cell phones around in 2011. Unlike most people, Graham and Jordan were convicted of crimes arising from their participation in a series of armed robberies [1] in that period, and were soon sorry...\(read more\)

Stop Faxing

May 11, 2016 - Topics: Data Security

I've long thought that sending faxes was a pretty silly means of communication. Don't send me a fax. I don't want it. At some point I'm hoping that even my kids' doctor's office will get dragged into the 20 th century and drop their insistence on...\(read more\)

First Circuit Opens New World of Potential Liability for Video Producers

May 4, 2016 - Topics: Data Security

You may be too young for this to have been a big thing to you, but almost 30 years ago, D.C. Circuit Judge Robert Bork was nominated to the Supreme Court, and Washington, D.C. went into a tizzy. Coming as it did just a year after Antonin Scalia...\(read more\)

SEC Enforcement Lays out Approach to Cybersecurity Cases

February 23, 2016 - Topics: Digital Media and Data Privacy Law, Data Security, Privacy

If you've ever attended the SEC Speaks conference, you know that the official program is an intensely uninteresting collection of short speeches by SEC officials who don't have a lot of incentives to say groundbreaking things. But occasionally there...\(read more\)

FCC Fines Cable Operator Following Data Breach Investigation

November 17, 2015 - J. Benjamin Davis Topics: Data Breach, FCC Matters

The FCC has been flexing its muscles in 2015 when it comes to enforcing data security requirements. In April, it reached a $25 million settlement with AT&T Services, Inc. for failing to safeguard customers' personal information. In July, it...\(read more\)

1

2

3

4

5

6

7

8

9

...

next >

last »