

Jimmy Adams to Speak at Bernard Robinson's Annual CPE Symposium

October 30, 2017

Jimmy Adams, a partner at Brooks Pierce, will speak at accounting firm Bernard Robinson & Company's annual Continuing Professional Education Symposium in Greensboro on November 7. The presentation, titled, "Today's Non-Compete Agreements and other Restrictive Covenants – What an Employee and Employer Should Know," will address issues such as explaining restrictive covenants and the impacts these types of agreements have for both employees and employers.

Adams focuses his practice on civil and commercial litigation, with a focus on complex commercial litigation including non-competition agreements, Certificate of Need litigation, ERISA and professional malpractice defense. Jimmy's practice also involves advising clients on employment matters with a focus on new and departing executives and highly compensated employees. He has received numerous professional honors, including being recognized by The Best Lawyers in America® and Benchmark Litigation.
