Eighteen Brooks Pierce attorneys have been selected to present on various topics at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill's 2016 Festival of Legal Learning. The festival will be held February 12-13 at The William and Ida Friday Continuing Education Center on the UNC-Chapel Hill campus.

The Festival of Legal Learning offers more than 100 courses designed to build basics, sharpen skills, provide perspectives and highlight new developments in the field of law during an intensive two-day period. This diverse program allows participants to customize their learning by choosing the courses most beneficial to their specific needs. Instructors at the festival are recognized experts in their fields and include professors from UNC School of Law, UNC School of Government and UNC School of Social Work, as well as distinguished guest faculty. To learn more about the event and to see a full list of presentations, visit <http://law.unc.edu/cle/festival/>.
