Brooks Pierce attorney David Smyth's article "Don't Expect Much From the Kinnucan Case" was published by Law360 on its White Collar, Securities and New York publications on Friday, February 24. Accused insider trader John Kinnucan will be found guilty or not guilty in the Southern District of New York – and liable or not, in the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission's case – but Smyth says his case likely won't provide the definition that many traders crave.
