Jennifer Van Zant focuses her practice on complex business litigation – the more complicated, the better. She represents businesses on a wide array of disputes before federal courts and the North Carolina Business Court, and works closely with clients to make paths toward resolution.

CORPORATE LITIGATION

Jennifer represents clients in a variety of complex business disputes, including numerous class action cases and LLC ownership disputes. She thrives in cases that involve complicated legal theories. She has extensive experience representing clients before the North Carolina Business Court and in federal district court.

"If you compare a canoe to a dispute, with litigation on one side and resolution on the other side, I know where and when to paddle. If you only paddle on the resolution side or the litigation side, you are just going in circles. I help clients move straight ahead."

CLASS ACTION DEFENSE

Jennifer has defended numerous class actions in an array of business-related cases. Her experience includes class action suits related to health care, consumer products, insurance, and antitrust.

ANTITRUST LITIGATION

Jennifer has been widely recognized by clients and peers for her success in antitrust litigation, and has been included in The Best Lawyers in America® and Chambers USA: America's Leading Lawyers for Business for her work in this area. Jennifer's antitrust litigation practice includes representation of various industries, such as health care and textiles.

The 2017 Chambers USA guide comments that Jennifer is, "a thoughtful litigator' who is held in high regard for her notable antitrust expertise."

HEALTH CARE LITIGATION

Jennifer represents a variety of health care related organizations in an array of business disputes. Her experience includes representing health care insurance companies in disputes with providers and participants, and representing a continuing care retirement community in a dispute over enforceability of covenants. She has also represented a network of chiropractors in disputes brought by former network participants, and she represents an insurer with regard to defending against challenges to an award of a significant government contract.

ABOUT ME

As a partner at Brooks Pierce and a mom of three very active kids, I am always thinking and I am always solving problems. I think that being a mom makes me a better lawyer. I have a “get it done” approach – I am there when my clients need me and I am there when my family needs me.

When it comes to my practice, I thrive in cases that involve complicated legal theories. I work to understand deeply my clients’ problems and to find unique solutions that others may not find. Outside of Brooks Pierce, I am an avid runner and enjoy running with friends all over Greensboro. I serve on the board of directors for Backpack Beginnings and the Joseph Branch Inn of Court, and am active at church and at my kids’ schools.
