Will Quick has a diverse litigation and regulatory practice, representing businesses and local governments in trial and appellate matters and before state agencies in North and South Carolina. He also advises clients on the design and implementation of privacy compliance programs and assists data breach victims with their response and notification obligations. Will is a Board Certified Specialist in Privacy and Information Security Law from the North Carolina Board of Legal Specialization.

DATA PRIVACY & CYBERSECURITY

Will assists businesses of all types with assessing regulatory obligations and developing privacy compliance programs to meet them. He also helps companies experiencing cybersecurity incidents with the investigation, response and notification process, often coordinating efforts across multiple states. Will is a Certified Information Privacy Professional (CIPP/US), and a Board Certified Specialist in Privacy and Information Security Law by the North Carolina State Bar Board of Legal Specialization.

"What I love about my job is that there's no one-size-fits-all approach. Each legal matter arises from a unique set of circumstances and the strategy is always a little different. I draw energy from the challenge of figuring out what will work best for a particular client."

MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT & LAND USE

Will advises local governments on a myriad of issues including open meetings law, public records requests, and emergency management protocols. Will also assists developers, business owners and local governments in navigating the often complex field of land use law. His work includes land-use litigation, eminent domain and zoning cases, and planned community development.

COMPLEX BUSINESS LITIGATION

Will represents clients in a variety of complex litigation matters, including partnership and shareholders' rights disputes, fiduciary duty claims, trade secret misappropriation, non-competition and non-solicitation agreements, and constitutional rights, before state and federal courts in North and South Carolina. He works with companies ranging in size from small local businesses to the Fortune 500 level on both the plaintiff and the defense side.

EXPERIENCE

Data Privacy & Cybersecurity

- Led the incident response, law enforcement coordination, and consumer and regulator notification process following data breaches experienced by a variety of entities, including, financial services companies retailers, manufacturers, professional services organizations, not-for-profits and institutions of higher learning.

ABOUT ME

I'm often asked why I decided to become a lawyer. The truth is that I feel like I've always been a lawyer at heart. I may not have technically become licensed to practice law until I was sworn into the State Bars of North and South Carolina, but being a good lawyer is about more than the technicalities.

To me being a lawyer is about asking questions and never taking things as a given. It's about digging further, testing and trying multiple theories, reading and researching until I've looked at every angle. It's about taking a position and coming up with the best argument to express that point. It's about being persistent and determined, while understanding that sometimes it's best to seek a compromise position.

I am now and have always been perpetually curious, excited by the opportunity to learn and apply new things, and energized by a good debate. It was natural that I ended up a lawyer with that combination of attributes!

When I'm not being a lawyer, you can usually find me spending time with my beautiful and talented wife, Meghan, who is an accomplished political fundraiser, and our two little boys; playing USTA league tennis; hiking or kayaking outdoors; or watching an NC State football or basketball game.
