ABOUT ME

My negotiating skills were developed at an early age when I managed to persuade my parents (an attorney and a philosophy professor) to let me leave home at seventeen to pursue a career in ballet instead of going straight to college. While dancing professionally with the Alabama Ballet, I also taught advanced students and pursued my undergraduate degree at the University of Alabama at Birmingham. By staying disciplined and managing my time efficiently, I maintained a high level of excellence in each pursuit. These skills translate well to the practice of law and help me to provide a high level of service to clients.
