

Darrell Fruth to Speak at Start-Up/IP Event at HQ Greensboro

07.06.2016

Darrell Fruth, an intellectual property attorney with Brooks Pierce, will be speaking on August 18 at a start-up event hosted by Brooks Pierce. The talk will be held at HQ Greensboro, a new shared workspace that provides a trusted support community and flexible office space to high-impact entrepreneurs. Brooks Pierce is a proud member of the Greensboro HQ community.

Fruth, an MIT and UC Berkeley-trained engineer and attorney, will deliver a presentation entitled “Start-Up Ventures: What’s Law Got to Do With It?”, which will outline several legal issues where start-ups need legal advice, such as identifying and protecting intellectual property, raising money (legally), and protecting data on the cloud.

The event will commence at 5:30 with a reception, with the presentation beginning at 6. Interested attendees can get more information and reserve their place by checking out the event’s page on Eventbrite here.
