

Kasi Robinson Participates in Virtual Q&A

03.05.2021

Brooks Pierce attorney Kasi Robinson participated in a virtual Q&A hosted by the University of North Carolina School of Law's First Generation Professionals student organization and the North Carolina Law Association's Law Student Division on Feb. 23. The event provided law students with academic and professional insight from a diverse panel of first-generation lawyers.

Robinson is a 2017 graduate of the University of North Carolina School of Law who represents businesses and individuals in civil and criminal litigation. She is well-versed in federal civil and criminal procedure from her experience as a law clerk in the U.S. Court of Appeals and the U.S. District Court, and she works with clients to develop thorough and aggressive litigation strategies to achieve the best possible outcome.
