Brooks Pierce has been named to Benchmark Litigation's short list for "North Carolina Law Firm of the Year" for 2020. The firm has won the award each year since 2016.

"Brooks Pierce is pleased to once again be named a finalist for Benchmark Litigation's North Carolina Law Firm of the Year," said Reid Phillips, the firm's managing partner. "We continue to handle some of the state's most complex cases and challenging legal issues, and this recognition is a testament to the work of all of our attorneys."

Other North Carolina firms named to the short list include Ellis & Winters, Parker Poe Adams & Bernstein, Robinson Bradshaw & Hinson and Smith Anderson. Nominees were chosen based upon research conducted between March and November 2019.

Benchmark Litigation serves as the definitive guide to America's leading litigation firms and attorneys. Rankings are based on a six-month period where Benchmark researchers conduct extensive interviews with litigators and their clients to identify the leaders in litigation.
