

David Smyth's Blog Named "Blog of the Month"

01.23.2017

Cady Bar the Door, a blog by partner David Smyth that takes an often light-hearted look at white-collar crime and government investigations, has received another recognition – being selected as “Blog of the Month” by the Young Lawyers Division of the North Carolina Bar Association.

The blog was highlighted in the Young Lawyers Division’s recent newsletter, which described it as “a blog detailing federal securities law enforcement, insider trading and criminal news-of-the-weird that hits the appellate court.”

In late 2016, Cady Bar the Door was named to the ABA Journal’s Blawg 100, an annual list of the 100 best blogs for a legal audience.
