Brooks Pierce has been named to Forbes' inaugural list of “America's Top Trusted Corporate Law Firms.” The firm's capital markets practice was listed as its “Most Recommended Practice Area” based on a survey of attorneys nationwide.

In all, the Forbes list included 243 corporate law firms from around the United States.

“We are honored to have been selected by our peers for Forbes' first list of ‘America's Top Trusted Corporate Law Firms,’” said Reid Phillips, the firm's managing partner. “Brooks Pierce prides itself on earning, and keeping, our clients' trust and I think receiving this recognition is a testament to that.”

Forbes partnered with market research company Statista to create the list. Statista conducted an online survey of lawyers, both at law firms and in-house at companies, who selected certain areas of law in which to recommend firms, with the ability to make up to 10 recommendations for each area of the law. The law firms receiving the most recommendations were included on the list. When a firm received an above average number of recommendations for a specific practice area, it was given a “most recommended practice area” designation.
