Brooks Pierce attorney Natalie Sanders recently discussed the legal risks business owners are facing in response to the COVID-19 pandemic with Business Insider.

The article, “Legal risks for businesses are changing every day. Here’s how you could be vulnerable over paid leave, cleaning supplies, and your work-from-home policy” details steps businesses can take to mitigate the legal risks associated with the COVID-19 pandemic.

Regarding businesses asking employees to work from home, Sanders has advised clients on the risks with remote work. “They need to think very carefully about how they’re maintaining confidentiality of any information the employees may take with them home.”

Sanders provides counsel and defense to businesses in all aspects of the employment relationship. Her 24 years of experience as an attorney, operations manager, entrepreneur, and community volunteer allow her to relate well to management and provide nuanced guidance in complex matters.
