

Brooks Pierce Welcomes New Associate

05.04.2022

Brooks Pierce is pleased to announce Sydney Booker has joined the firm as an associate. She will focus on commercial litigation.

Booker has experience working with the financial services, retail, logistics and transportation sectors, in commercial disputes, class action litigation and corporate investigations. Before attending law school, she worked in the forensic and dispute services practice of a major accounting firm where she provided clients with forensic accounting and corporate investigation, anti-money laundering compliance consulting and damages estimation services.

“We are excited to have Sydney joining our litigation team,” said Reid Phillips, managing partner of Brooks Pierce. “Her background in accounting and financial analysis will bring great value to our clients.”

Booker received her juris doctor from Duke University Law School. She has a bachelor’s degree in public and international affairs from Princeton University.
