

Jessi Thaller-Moran Featured in Workplace Challenges Roundtable

11.15.2023

Brooks Pierce partner Jessi Thaller-Moran participated in a recent roundtable discussion hosted by Business North Carolina covering a range of employment topics including remote work, labor shortages and employee safety. The discussion was moderated by Chris Roush, executive editor at Business North Carolina. Thaller-Moran spoke about how employers can thoughtfully and deliberately attract new talent while revamping policies and systems to keep people engaged in the workplace.

Thaller-Moran focuses her practice on employment law and litigation, which includes counseling employers on legal compliance and helping them proactively identify, prepare for and respond to issues involving personnel management.
